Education are planning to offer ther Arithmetic or Science as taught in the elementary school will run for a period of two weeks. Credits for the course will be awarded by Farmington State Teachers College to teachers paying tuition. For those taking the course with-

LETTER TO A TEEN-AGER

This letter to an editor from "A Mother" has been reprinted so many times that its origin has been lost, but republication hasn't caused it to lose its point.—Clipped from "Reader's Digest"

Always we hear the spoiled plaintive cry of the teen-ager:
"What can we do, where can we go?"

I can make some suggestions.
Go home!

Paint the woodwork. Mow the lawn. Wash the car. Learn to cook. Scrub some floors. Repair the sink. Build a boat. Get a job!

Your parents do not owe you entertainment. Your village does not owe you recreational facilities!

The world does not owe you a living.

You owe the world something. You owe it your time and energy and your talents.

Help the minister, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army.
Visit the sick, assist the poor.
And when you are through and not too tired—read a book.

MT. ABRAM SKI SLOPES
REPORT GOOD CROWDS

There was an excellent attendance at the Mount Abram Ski Slopes last week and during the week end. Conditions were good for the three sports enjoyed there—skiing, skating and tobogganing.

The Ski Shop, which features all needed supplies, rentals and repairs, is in charge of Lee Hutchins.

Seventy-eight teen-agers enjoyed the record hop and skating party Saturday night. Dick Angvine and Sue Coppick were selected as king and queen and they will reign over this week's dance.

Prize winners were: door prize, Pat Davis; spot dance prizes, Mary Merrill and Ray Peiffer, Virginia Tibbets and Danny Torres, Nancy Morin and Harry Kimball; skaters' waltz, Pat Davis and Roger Tibbets.

A "week end chalet" built by Davis Building Supply was set up Wednesday at the Sunday River Skiway. The attractive 18x24 foot structure was built in sections in the Davis shop.
Designed for use in any sports or recreation purpose, it should be popular for a great range of vacation uses. At the Skiway for exhibition purposes, it can readily be erected on any lot or on leased land in ski areas.

Intigent of local rosters were on hand to cheer them on in this, their first major competition.

Junior Ski Instructions
Last week end was the first under the new set-up for schooling the juniors in the regular Sunday River Ski School. This program is probably one of the most ambitious ever undertaken by any ski club. Every junior member of the club is assured of a full course of instruction in Nils Torjensen's fine ski school. We hope that all parents will see to it that their sons and daughters arrive at the registration desk in plenty of time each week at the designated time.
The first group on Saturday at 9:45 a. m., second at 12:45 p. m., third on Sunday at 12:45 p. m. If you are not sure just when your youngster should report, call Mary Paine, Emily Saunders, Dana Douglass or Charlie Farrar. The list is also posted at the skiway.

SKI CLUB NEWS

In their first competitive ski meet, held last Saturday at the Sunday River Skiway, the youngsters of the local junior ski team were winners over the Webster Ski Club of Auburn. Bud Kendall of the Auburn team was the individual star of the meet, winning both the Giant Slalom and the Slalom. However, the combined efforts of the locals, led by Jack Weeks, Jeff Clough, Daryl Young, Pete Bailey and Ronnie Smiley were sufficient to secure victory for the Bethel boys.

On this coming Saturday, Feb. 11, the boys are entered in the State Junior Ski Meet being held this year on the Black Mountain skiway in Plymouth. It should give the local boys a fine experience and a good workout.

HOTEL WEST BETHEL, MAINE

Here is pictured a West Bethel building, familiar to several generations in the style of painting followed on much of the property of Alpheus S.
Bean. Formerly a one story home, it was bought by Mr.
Bean in 1877 and afterward developed to the present size.
For years it was known as the "Hotel," and used as a boarding house for the Bean employees. A later period saw it again as a boarding place for many who worked in the "post card factory" of Whitten & Dennison, an industry which moved to Auburn, Indiana, about 50 years ago.

Since Mr Bean's death in 1899, its owners include Stahl Brothers, G. Dana Morrill, Earl Jordan, Clarence Bennett, Richard McLaughlin, Franklin Burris and P. H. Chadbourne.

A. S. Bean, who has become almost a legendary figure, was a native of Bethel. He started his first mill at West Bethel in 1870, he acquired thousands of acres of timberland and at the time of his death had mills in Rumford, Albany, Mason, Shelburne, and West Bethel. He died Sept. 20, 1899, at the age of 53 years.

This old "Hotel" building has inspired the writer of the following story.

THE OLD ABANDONED
HOUSE BY THE SIDE OF
THE ROAD TELLS A STORY

The snow is piled high in front of my doors which are open — some off and some swinging in the wind. The glass is gone from my windows and the plaster fallen from my walls and ceilings. The birds come and go at will and many cute little pussy cats come in to catch them if they are smart enough.

The cold winds moan and whistle through my shell, and I stand gray and foreboding in the rosy light of the dawn, and silhouetted against the sky when the full moon rises high above my chimneys and makes me ashamed of my shabby appearance in the little village where I have stood so long and was once pleasing to look at.

The neighbors say I am an eyesore, a terrible fire trap and lots more. I know I am all these things and homely, battered and worn, but I was once a warm and happy home where children loved to live.

I was a small house until many years ago a man with plenty of money bought me. He raised me up into the air and built a whole story beneath me.
I had two nice piazzas, running water, gas lights and was finished in pretty natural wood and had hardwood floors downstairs. This man, his wife and her sister made their home here for some years. They also boarded his hired help here for he was a lumberman and employed lots of men.

His wife had a parlor in the pretty corner room where she and her sister entertained guests and served afternoon tea to the village ladies who came to call. They had a cook to prepare the meals served in my big cheerful dining room and other help who kept me spotless and clean. The men boarders had a room by themselves with a big box stove for heat, where they spent the long winter evenings, told yarns, dried their clothes and played cards. Everyone said I was a good home and I was happy to shelter the good people.

Time waits for no one and these people grew older as all good folks do. I was sold to another man but since I had around 20 good rooms I was not idle for long. A kindly and hardworking woman moved in with her two boys. Her husband was dead, and she was anxious to work. The post card factory was doing well in our little village and she boarded the many girls and young men who worked there. There were several chimneys and the rooms upstairs had small wood stoves for heat. What happy days these were but there were many more before my downfall.

After the postcard factory moved away I said goodbye to the young people and later to the kindly lady. I was so sad when they left me for my walls had resounded with their laughter and I was kept so neat and clean. I wondered what would come next.

I did not have long to wait before a big happy family of children were to move in and did we have happy times then.
Their father and mother were good hard working people, and the little folks had lots of room outside to play their merry games. More rents were made within my walls and sometimes as many as four families called me their home. How well I loved them all. Tiny babies were born here and were sheltered and warm when the cold north wind blew through our pretty village.

I have been sold many times and have seen all kinds of people come and go. After I was left alone sometimes older people would fix up a few of my rooms and they found comfort and seclusion in their own little apartments.

The years flew by and I was finally sold to a man and woman with a family of six girls and I was very happy as they were hard working people and had lots of plans for making me shine once again. My old gas lights were all gone and I had new bright electric ones instead. These people put a good bathroom into one of my upstairs rooms, and they painted and papered my walls and ceilings until I shone and almost felt my lonesome days were over and they would stay here and be happy with me.
But one day I heard about going away and perhaps selling me as I was so big and it cost so much to do all they felt needed to be done to me and the big barn which stands across the yard from my west side. Before long I was again sold and the girls took away their pretty things from all their cozy rooms and started for the sunny south. Now I was really blue and forlorn.

I learned that a good man had bought the whole big farm and that lots of cattle would come to live in the barn and the big field which had always belonged with me. I hoped that there would be more children come to live here and I would not be forgotten in the rush to fix up the barn. There were some come to stay a while and we were good friends. The pretty white faced cattle had big yards near me and would stand and gaze at me at the close of day. I felt they were my friends and I wondered if they felt some pity for me since the big barn had its new coat of paint and I was given only a partial coat of somber gray.

My condition got worse, the little children and their parents moved away, the cattle were sold and I had no more friends left. Everyone in our pretty village felt so sorry for me as they had all hoped this fine man and his family would make me into a beautiful home everyone could be proud of.

WEST BETHEL BUILDINGS

Gorham Mountaineer, Oct.
12, 1877. — A. S. Bean has bought the stand lately occupied by Rev. S. J. Gould, and is having it fitted up in fine style. It is to be newly painted, a piazza put around the house, the grounds graded and a graveled driveway made through them. Mr. Bean is a man of enterprise, to will with him is to do. He will convert this stand into a summer residence, or a fine boarding house suitable for a hotel. It will be a good thing for the place, and we hope such enterprise will not go unrewarded.

Norway Advertiser, Nov. 14, 1890. — The new barn of A.
S. Bean's is nearly finished on the outside and is very large, 120x60 feet, and makes a big show in our village.

The Bethel News, Jan. 5, 1898. — J. E. Pike desires to thank all who kindly assisted him on Wednesday last in moving, for nearly a mile with 18 horses, the building purchased by him for a store. When the interior is finished, and filled with goods it will be quite an addition to the lower end of our village. April 27, 1898. — J. E. Pike has opened his new store with a small stock of choice groceries, fruit, tobacco and cigars, and the Boston Daily Globe is for sale on his counter. March 2, 1898. — An old barn owned by Mrs. Irene Needham was crushed last week by the heft of snow on the roof, and is a total wreck.

March 8, 1899. — A. S. Bean has purchased the old meeting house near the railway station, and has workmen now engaged in changing it into a dwelling house for the use of those in his employ. [This house was destroyed by fire May 11, 1916.]

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Thursday, February 9
Read Ephesians 2:1-10

By grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God. (Ephesians 2:8).

While I was conducting a preaching mission in a village in the United Arab Republic, a man called Yacsa invited three others and me for lunch. He prepared a rich banquet at his house. He greeted us so nicely, saying, "We are greatly honored. Feel at home and help yourselves." Suddenly, his eyes were moist with tears. He hurried at once to another room and shut himself in.

As his wife saw my surprise, she stepped in and said, "I am sorry. My husband is a drunkard. He can't enjoy a meal unless he drinks. He went because he couldn't eat with you."

A few minutes later, our host came back. He looked at me and said: "Please don't preach at me. I know more than you do what wine is. I have tried all means to overcome it, but in vain."

I replied: "I am not going to preach at you. But may I add just a word? There is a power that can save you. You need not try it; just trust it. It is the grace of Jesus the Saviour.
Take hold of it through faith."

He did, and won a victory.

PRAYER: Our loving Father, source of every good gift, grant us Thy gift of faith that links us with our almighty Saviour, through whom we become more than conquerors. In His name.
Amen.

ness with God's power.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

LARD PAUL LUNCHESS

The countryman does not want to be misunderstood. He favors plenty of minerals, 47 mysterious alphabets and numerical vitamins, hot lunches for school children, and diets that are balanced on certified scales. Nowadays with pressure cookers that bludgeon good food into despairing submission, it is possible to toss a meal together while one sings a single stanza of Darling Nellie Gray.

Time was when boys and girls in District No. 9 gathered around the hot stove at noon hour and opened their lard paul lunches. The lard paul lunches were packed with substantial cold roast pork sandwiches, a pickle or two, perhaps a jar of applesauce and a big piece of Mother's famous black walnut cake with thick white frosting.
Sometimes there was a wedge of apple pie that one held in one hand and ate point first.

Science has de-lard more efficient containers for lard. If children carry lunches, they have special boxes designed for the purpose. Half a century ago no one ever heard of a thermos bottle and children drank from a common dipper that hung on a nail above the copper pail. No one had heard of a thermos bottle until these days and one was wanted.

We are glad that modern children have hot lunches. We are happy that larger schools have chromium-plated cafeterias and serve hot spinach. But there are millions of Americans who recall when they tramped country roads to a district school, and as they walked along, swung a lard paul by its wire handle. Lard paul lunches have gone—along with soapstones, bootjacks and high button shoes, but there are some who think that life was more flavorful in those less complicated days of yesteryear.

THE MEAT PACKING COMPANIES

In the past two years the companies in the meat packing industry have begun to bear out the hopes of investors. The earnings for many companies turned decisively upward and the share prices performed in similar fashion.

The many new plants constructed in recent years brought a marked increase in efficiency and raw material costs were lessened by the larger supply of cattle. These two factors were the prime reasons for the improved results, supported by the expanding population and growing consumer income. Nevertheless, in the next year or more further progress can be expected in the industry. The same factors should be at work in this coming period as significantly as in the recent period and the shares, in our opinion, still have considerable appreciation potential at current levels.

For the next 18 months, the outlook is encouraging. Cattle supplies are expected to be 6-8% higher. Over 100-million head are currently on the range and the movement to market ought to be substantial for the next two or three years. Hog numbers will probably continue tight for the first half but thereafter a definite improvement is forecast. Prices of hogs stand at high levels ($19 per hundredweight), and should include a good increase in farrowings as farmers take advantage of the attractive price situation. In the latter half of 1961 and the first part of 1962, prices for this animal ought to trend steadily downwards. Historically, the swing in such prices is sharp and profit margins are affected dramatically. In the latter part of 1961, the cattle and hog cycle may well turn favorable at the same time, an extremely favorable situation which does not occur often.

Swift & Co.: The company has spent substantial sums in the past seven years and a heavy percentage of its fixed plant is new. The company has always enjoyed strong finances and a large cash flow from depreciation is generated. While 1960 results were somewhat disappointing, the potential for a sizeable gain in earning power remains.

MISS AMERICA PRELIM

Don't hesitate any longer. Fill out an entry blank from this week's paper, with name, age, schools attended, parents' name and address, slip it into an envelope and mail to: Mr. Richard Blake, chairman Entries Comm., Bethel, Me. This will be the last week entry blanks will be printed, so do it now!

At this time we can offer girls who are selected early the advantage of free lessons on how to walk and model in both evening gown and bathing suit. These lessons will be given by the Dinsmore Dance Studio of Rumbold.

With the sale of patron tickets now on sale, we believe that by next week we will be able to announce one of the largest scholarships to be given in the State of Maine, in a preliminary Pageant, to say nothing of the prizes for the runners-up and a free luncheon for all the contestants that are selected for the pageant.

On top of all of this, plans are now under way to stage one of the most beautiful pageants held in the State, which in itself will give our contestants one of the best audiences anywhere to display their talent to and show the rest of the country that right here in Maine we not only have the most beautiful girls but the most talented also.

In closing this week, I would like to assure all mothers of contestants that their daughters will be well chaperoned at all times by at least one married woman with the highest morals and interests of your daughter's reputation the upmost in her mind.

More to come next week, also deadline on entries will be announced at that time.

V. A. NEWS LETTER

A reminder to any of the remaining Spanish - American War veterans who desire outpatient care from private physicians at VA expense was issued today by the Veterans Administration.

Such veterans, the VA said, should notify the nearest VA office immediately. For most veterans of this war, the VA can pay for outpatient care from private physicians only when it has been authorized by the agency before the treatment is given.

In emergency cases, however, the V. A. may issue an authorization for emergency non-hospital treatment already given, when the agency is notified by the veteran or his physician within 15 days from date treatment began.

Veterans Administration records show that there were 34,000 living Spanish-American War veterans as of November 30, 1960.

HEART FUND DRIVE

ON DURING FEBRUARY

Kenneth E. Hardy, Bangor, State Campaign Chairman of the Maine Heart Fund, has announced that more than 20,000 volunteers from every community in the State are in the month long drive for contributions for the Heart Fund. Benefits and tag days will be held in many Maine communities during February with the peak of the campaign falling on Heart Sunday, Feb. 26, when the thousands of volunteers will ring door bells in a community canvass for funds to defeat the Nation's Number 1 Killer.

Hardy pointed out that heart and circulatory diseases kill more Maine people than any other cause of death. The latest available statistics, 1959, show that of the 10,817 deaths from all causes in the State, 4,960 of these were attributed to diseases of the heart and circulatory system. In the same year, cancer killed 1500 persons in the State. "The need for funds is greater than ever and 75 per cent of every dollar contributed to the Heart Fund goes into research, education and community service in Maine," Hardy continued.

These funds also aid in the financing of cardiac clinics in Waterville, Rumbold, Caribou, Lewiston, Portland, Bangor and Brunswick. These clinics
